Board of Trade Holds Regular Meeting

The Wainwright and District Board of Trade held its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday last, June 3rd, in the Town Hall with a very small attendance.

President J. J. McNeil presided and Secretary E. Lane acted as clerk. In their capacity, minutes of the meeting of May 4th were read and adopted with no corrections or omissions.

President Simonson spoke briefly on the recent house numbering project and commended the committee and all the volunteers who helped in this undertaking. Mr. J. Mitchell was asked as head of the committee to give a brief report on the house numbering project.

Mr. Mitchell requested the Board of Trade members to take up the idea of everyone placing up their numbers as soon as possible. He also thanked those present for the help that he had received in connection with the project.

Mr. K. T. Torg was asked to give a report on the happenings during the past month of the committee of which he is chairman. Trade and Industry, Mr. Torg stated that he had had correspondence with the NADP relative to the opening of a creamery at this point, but that the firm in question could give no definite answer to the question. Mr. Torg stated that at the present time NADP were seriously considering closing creameries close to Wainwright, due to the lack of cream being shipped. As secretary of the Rural Electrification Association, Mr. Torg stated that the Board of Trade members should have been selected to follow this part of the district but it would likely be 1950 before anything could be done with them. Other matters brought up by Mr. Torg included the installation of a new machine shop in Wainwright and the harmful practice of grass burning in the park south of Wainwright.

Correspondence was read from Premier Manning and Hon. David Ury, Minister of Agriculture, relative to the Hutterite question. Both these letters included the regulations covering the movement and living of the Hutterites. Neither communication gave much assurance that the Hutterite colony, which is rumored to be moving in north of Wainwright, can be stopped, or even checked. They are complying to the legal limits of laws as laid down by the Provincial Government.

Mr. L. McLeod was Toastmaster and chairman for the evening and called upon the toastmasters in their turn. The toast to the school was given by Mr. H. Alwood to which Mr. H. G. Teskey responded. Toast to the graduating class was proposed by Mr. Charles Newell and responded to by Miss Eleanor Meyer. Mr. Keith Walker was class valedictorian and gave the Valedictory in a very impressive manner.

This portion of the evening concluded with God Save The King.

Jean McNally Bride In June Ceremony

Wainwright United Church was the scene of a pretty afternoon wedding on Wednesday, June 3rd, at 4:00 p.m., when Jean Kathleen McNally daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McNally of Wainwright became the bride of James Albert Veltch son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Veltch also of Wainwright. Rev. M. Debon performed the ceremony amidst a setting of lilacs and summer flowers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gray garden suit with black and white accessories and a corsage of roses and carnations.

Miss Joyce McNally attended her sister as bridesmaid, she was tastefully attired in a powder blue suit with white accessories and her corsage was of pink carnations.

William Veltch escorted his brother as best man.

Mrs. W. Long played the wedding music and during the signing of the register Miss Ethel West sang "Always".

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. McNally chose a black dress with blue accessories and a corsage of red carnations.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. The rooms were tastefully decorated with pink and white streamers and white wedding bells. The bride's table was set with the three times wedding cake with bouquets of lilacs completing the decorative scheme. Mrs. H. Elman and Miss Fern Gardner presided over the coffee urn and those acting as servers were Mrs. Harry Stommes, Misses Audrey and Georgina Gardner, Jean, Cordeil and Bunny Bond. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Harry Stommes and replied to by the groom.

After a short wedding trip by motor the newlyweds will reside on the groom's farm north of town.

Out of town guests for the wedding included Mrs. H. Hittman and family of Canmore, Miss Joyce McNally of Kamloops, Miss Beva Peirce of Chauvin and Mr. Melvin Gode of Chauvin.

On May 28th Miss McNally was pleasantly surprised when fifteen of her friends gathered at the home of Miss Fern Gardner to honor her at a miscellaneous shower. The evening was spent making Bride Books which created a lot of fun and laughter.

The bride-to-be was then presented with a delightfully decorated umbrella of presents which she appropriately thanked her friends for.

House Numbering Completed In Wainwright

Wednesday afternoon last, June 2, saw the completion of the House numbering project as far as the Board of Trade were concerned. Each householder and place of business was allotted a number for their building and at the time of writing numbers are to be seen displayed on the front of the premises. Many buildings are still lacking the number but this is due largely to the local stores being unable to handle the requests for certain numbers. One's, two's and zero's are the most difficult numbers to keep in stock. This is due largely to the fact that all places on the east side of main street have the prefix number of either 10, 31 or 12. It is to be hoped that all people will co-operate with this project by placing their numbers up as soon as they are available.

Considerable planning went into this undertaking and the B. of T. members are to be congratulated on the progressiveness. All the volunteers gathered at the Town Hall and received their instructions. Two men were allotted to an avenue and in approximately 1 1/2 hours the town was completely covered. In practically all cases the courtesies were received with a smile and most everyone was waiting for them.

At the present time the streets have not been allotted sign posts, but it is expected that the town will take care of this item very shortly, having agreed to do this in the fall of 1947.

On Highway 14 and Highway 41 (Vermilion Highway) on Thursday afternoon last, June 3rd, a car and truck collided at approximately 3:00 p.m.

From information that the Star could gather, Mr. Treisman was proceeding south on Highway 41 and Mr. Pearson was travelling west on Highway 14. Mr. Treisman failed to stop upon entering the main highway and didn't notice the approaching truck, hitting same on the right front fender. As Mr. Pearson's truck was loaded with grain there was a terrific impact and it left the road travelling into the ditch.

It is estimated that more than $250 damage was done to the Ford and approximately $150 damage was caused to the truck.

Investigation of the accident is being carried on by the RCMP.

A tasty lunch was served. Best wishes were extended to Jean for a world of success in her new career.

Open Letter To The M.D. of Wainwright

Wainwright, Alberta
May 20th, 1948

To the Municipal District No. 61 and the Ratepayers of the Wainwright School Division No. 32:

At the Divisional Board meeting of Thursday, May 27th, 1948, your letter of May 22nd which appeared in the Wainwright Star was read to the Board and discussed.

The Board wishes to thank you first for the information contained therein and for the figures which have explained a misunderstanding at the time of the question of taxation on land is of first importance and it is the major source of revenue to meet the costs of education, of pupils throughout the Division. From the figures quoted the regulations from the Wainwright M.D. No. 61 have risen from $67,906.00 in 1942 to $90,425.87 in 1948. During these years the cost of operation of our schools has risen in direct proportion to increased wages and prices of commodities. The difference in the regulations is in direct proportion to the above. Every thing has been done to keep the regulation as low as possible. The school building program as badly as it is needed, has been drastically curtailed. Schools in operation have had a minimum of equipment. Supplies and texts have been handled at cost as an additional benefit to the ratepayer. A Health Program has been organized, and now provides a service which I do not think any citizen would wish to forego.

At the moment however, we are more concerned with the question of mill rates. To arrive at the regulation for each year's budget, the Divisional Board finds it convenient to use a mill rate. In this year's budget the Board found it necessary to use 19 mills as a basis for school purposes. The Divisional Board realizes the question arises in the mind of the ratepayers, and I believe it is their privilege, why raise the mill rate from 19 to 21.5 solely for school purposes. The Divisional Board realizes the question arises in the mind of the ratepayers, and I believe it is their privilege, why raise the mill rate from 19 to 21.5 solely for school purposes. City Man Damages Car Near Edgerton

Mr. W. Leskow escaped with only slight injuries when he was involved in a motor accident 1 1/2 miles east of the Edgerton corner on Highway 14, at approximately 7:45 p.m. Friday June 4th.

Mr. Leskow of Edmonton was driving a 1947 Chevrolet to the city at the time of the accident and ran off the road on the south side. In an attempt to bring the car back onto the highway the car slipped on the loose gravel making it uncontrollable.

The automobile is a total loss and is only suitable for wrecking purposes. More than $2000 damage was done to the vehicle. Mr. Leskow received minor hospital treatment the following day at the local hospital and was discharged the same day.

Mr. Leskow is now residing in Edmonton but at one time lived in the Edgerton district.

FLOODS IN B.C. NO BETTER In British Columbia, rising waters of the Columbia River threatened to add new disaster to the flood-beset province. Army and civilian workers in the smelter city of Trail, 260 miles east of Vancouver were battling furiously as the river reached record heights.

Heavy duty pumps and 12,000 sandbags were flown in by the RCAF to help in the fight. The pumps and sorely-needed sandbags were greeted with cheers by exhausted flood workers.

With warmer weather forecast, higher temperatures were expected to result in increased run-off from mountain snows.

Troops of the Lord Strathcona Horse, due to be flown in by air from Edmonton would bring to more than 300 the number assigned from Alberta, to assist British Columbia in its flood disaster. Two hundred members of the Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry from Calgary are already engaged in sandbagging operations.

Meanwhile stricken flood victims received heartening news. Major-General Hoffmeister and Eric W. Hamber, former Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, were appointed to a two-man commission to direct the spending of millions of dollars in re-habilitation.

YOUR NUMBERS UP?

The above heading might suggest that death is walking the ranks, but quite to the contrary, we are referring to the recent house numbering project of the Board of Trade. Every householder and business place received their allotted number in the Town on Wednesday last. This was no mean task and entailed quite a lot of hard work by the volunteer crew. Needless to say that the amount of planning that went into the project was immense. Quite a few difficulties had to be ironed out as the scheme progressed along. On the whole, the affair went off very well. What is requested now is that each person place on his dwelling and business building the numbers which were allotted to him. These can be purchased for cost at the stores down town.

At the present time quite a few citizens are already notified. It gives somewhat of a big-city air to the town, but unless those who have not placed their numbers do so the picture will not be complete. Looking at the scheme as if it were a huge jigsaw puzzle, if some numbers are up and others are not, it is seen immediately how it would appear. Don't be a missing link in the chain of a simple pattern. Get those numbers up where they will be easily seen. At the present time the stores are having difficulty in stocking certain numbers such as 1, 2 and 0, this is to be expected but they will endeavor to have your number as they order more replacement figures. Give your order in and when the numbers are received they will be saved for you.

Let's all co-operate to make this latest B. of T. venture a success.

A P.M.C. DECISION

As reported in last week's Star, the P.M.C. executive have voted to change the proposed location of the P.M.C. from Block 8 beside the Town Hall, to a new site facing 4th Avenue on 8th Street. This action was necessary to alleviate the high costs involved in construction on the land next to the Town Hall, all of which have been outlined in these columns before.

This action is apt to be criticized in some quarters but it will likely be unfounded criticism without more forethought. If one stops to realize that wherever the P.M.C. is located it will not please some portion of the population it is easy to understand the immediate reaction of some people.

While the newly chosen site is somewhat off the beaten path, it is within two blocks from the Post Office, which after all is not far from the centre of town. Other towns have their arenas farther from the town centre, such as Vermilion and Vegreville and both these places enjoy their arena without much apparent loss in revenue.

The new site is easy to visualize as a wonderful opportunity for the residents of town and district as a Peace Memorial Centre. There is ample space to develop the centre as it was originally planned some four years ago. On the new tract of land space permits the construction of the arena, possibly later on a swimming pool, a wading pool for kiddies, two or more ball diamonds and the making of the area into more or less that of a park. Where can space be found to do this any closer to Main Street than two blocks.

The town council have given their approval to this recent action as is shown in this week's council minutes. The support and co-operation of this body is to be commended. Of course there is still the matter of closing off the avenue which is surveyed further west but to the present time is a dead end. This matter is well in hand as the town secretary and the town solicitor have been instructed to look into the necessary legal aspect of the situation. It will take a short while before this can be done due to the waiting period required by law, but after that nothing should stop the commencement of construction and in all probability the foundations and footing will be poured. This is the action we have all been waiting for...

ONLY THE BEGINNING

The expression of concern to be seen on the faces of many pupils today means only one thing, that exam time is drawing near. Within a very short time they will write their final examinations for this school year. The results will show how much knowledge they have accumulated since September last.

The approach to final exam time always finds students divided into three classifications. Those who are confident of passing and have not much to worry about, those who know that they might possibly pass only by buckling down to work in the few short days left, and those who know that they will likely fail one or more subjects anyway so what's the use. In a good many cases these divisions carry over into later life and will affect a person throughout his living days.

The other day we saw a cartoon which showed a student telling his companion, "Just two more weeks, and all our troubles will be over." The joke was to give adults a chuckle, because they know that all through life one is immune to examinations. They are ever present.

So it is all the way through, in developing a personality, in building a good home life and in social and community relations. Examinations over on completing school? Why, that's only the beginning. This is the reason that young people should develop good working habits. Then when he encounters school tests or any of the other complex problems in life he can take them in his stride.

This Week At Ottawa

By Harold Morrison

Only greater production will reduce prices.

This simple yet important statement was delivered by Graham Towers, the usually silent governor of the Bank of Canada. He told a long-standing Parliamentary Prices Committee that neither a system of controls nor voluntary action will stem the rise which has unbalanced the scale of living.

"The essence of the thing is the catching up of production," he said, appearing as a witness.

As Mr. Towers disclosed his views, details of Finance Minister Abbott's budget finally ended in the Commons after the government survived two motions of non-confidence.

Other activities included an announcement by Defence Minister Claxton of a $20,000,000 housing scheme for families of service personnel. This would ease the civilian shortage, Mr. Claxton said.

Alan Cockeram (PC-Toronto South) asked for a new miner ministry. This would help increase mine production in Canada to more than 10,000,000. Prime Minister Mackenzie King indicated that Parliament may have difficulty completing its business by June 30. At least another 20 measures have yet to appear on the order paper or be referred to house committees.

In the Prices Committee room, Mr. Towers declined to predict how much longer the cost-of-living index would continue to rise. He agreed with Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto East) that the present value of the Canadian dollar, compared with its 1939 purchasing power, had dropped to about 65 cents.

The bank governor declared that the Bank of Canada had urged chartered banks to use discretion in making loans to business men seeking to build up their stocks. The banks were advised last February that the use of bank credit to finance capital expansion was no longer desirable.

He thought it wise to taper off industrial expansion until it came into line with available resources and manpower.

Mr. Towers warned the Prices Committee that whatever action was taken to curtail prices would be watched lest it makes "us cry out on the other side of our faces." It might well lead to unemployment, Mr. Towers added.

Main criticism of Mr. Abbott's budget was leveled against the burden of taxation on those in the low-income groups. However, members voted 122 to 30 against a C.C.F. motion, which asked Ottawa to express regret on certain government failures, which included taxation.

The C.C.F. also asked an increase in income tax exemptions to $1,200 for single persons and $2,500 for married persons; removal of sales and excise taxes; establishment of a public investment board to control capital investment.

A second motion of non-confidence this time by the Progressive Conservatives, called on members to express opinion that the government did not possess the confidence of the people. It was defeated 72 to 54.

Mr. Claxton's housing scheme was announced after he returned from a flying 3,600-mile trip to the sub-Arctic. A comprehensive review of Arctic defence measures was made.

In Ottawa, Mr. Claxton said the housing program will be a direct contribution to relief of housing shortages in civilian communities. Service families would move into service married quarters and thus leave more homes available for civilian families.

Altogether a target of 2,500 new houses for 1948 has been set up. Of that number 1,175 units are under construction. The new houses are of four to six-room construction. They will cost from $8,500 to $9,000 each, apart from the cost of services such as water installations.

More than 200 units are being built by the Royal Canadian Engineers. Another 1,000 are being supervised by the R.C.E.

Nine Point Program
The government's expenditure on development of Canada's mineral resources was termed "negligible" in the Commons last week. Mr. Cockeram added that the mineral industry of Canada should be under the guidance of a full-time minister. In this way it would increase its production to more than $1,000,000,000.

He presented the House with a specific nine-point program for the new department:

Preparation with the trade minister of a national policy of processing in Canada of primary mineral products; review with the trade minister the need for supplies of strategic minerals for defence of the country and the continent; review labor problems and demands for employment with the labor minister; review with the immigration minister ability of industry to absorb those who come to Canada in search of new homes; reconsider assistance to provinces to defray costs of improving transportation facilities to mining areas;

provide for technical investigations to further the development of mining and related industries; provide greater research facilities for finding means of lowering mining costs; provide for greater application of scientific knowledge of geology and mineralogy in finding new ore areas; take immediate steps to stir Canadians to a greater appreciation of the economic importance of the mining industry.

Some members are hoping that parliament may definitely progress June 30. Others predict that members may get a two-month holiday and return for another session in September. Last week Prime Minister King gave the Commons an idea of what still had to be done before the members could say goodbye.

The international wheat agreement had to be ratified; the Canadian National Railways Financing and Guarantee Act had to be amended; so had the Criminal Code; the Lord's Day Act; the Amnities Act; the Northwest Territories Act; the Natural Resources Act of Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

Joe Rutledge Says

By Joseph Lister Rutledge

SHARE AND SHARE ALIKE

It has always been my conviction that the benefits of industry are much more evenly distributed than many people permit themselves to believe. If that were somewhat generally believed it would be a happier and less contentious world. Many of the prejudices that disturb us spring from an inability to interpret a balance sheet properly. Let's take a look at one of the latest, that of the Steel Company of Canada, just as a case in point.

Last year this company had a net profit of a little better than five and a half million dollars. In stock market parlance this represented $7.75 per share on the company's listed stock. But, contrary to the belief of us uninformed, the stockholders didn't get that much. Those people who put their money into the undertaking and took a chance received considerably less than half that amount and, so to speak, left the remainder in the kitty.

The average shareholder—60 per cent of them Canadian—owns 88 shares and received for them an annual net of $294. Not too much money for providing the money to make the profit possible. Out of the gross profits of course the government had already taken just short of $5 million, or almost as much as the net profits, while directors and management had shared just one and a third per cent of these gross profits. Again hardly too much for the direction that is capital to make profits. The rest—in the kitty—went into depreciation and reserve.

Now let us look at it from the other angle, the angle of what the actual producer got out of it. He got wages and salaries of $34,046,114; or almost five times the total profit. He got graduated holidays with pay. He got a pension plan, entirely financed by the company, into which went another $800,000 that might otherwise have been added profit; the sickness and benefit plan of which the company now pays about 65 per cent, or another charge of $163,828.

But what of the big item for depreciation and reserve? Well, in the past ten years $46,000,000, with another $15,450,000 this year, has gone into plant expansion and improvements. Now, who benefits? The capitalist? Yes. His $3.00 per share becomes by that much the more safe. The worker? Yes, in that time his company now pays about 65 per cent, or another charge of $163,828. But what of the big item for depreciation and reserve? We think that the instances might change but not the policy. Industry knows that its workers are its premier asset.

Canadian Garden Service

Summer Attention
Aside from some replanting, about the only summer care the garden should need will be thinning, weeding and cultivation. If the soil is very dry it is advisable to water. One good soaking is worth a dozen sprinklings. Sprinkling only settles the dust and has a tendency to bring root growth too close to the surface where the sun is liable to hurt it. A little chemical fertilizer applied carefully according to directions is also a good thing at this time. It will hurry along growth and with vegetables will increase tenderness.

When the hot weather sets in it is as well to cut lawn grass less frequently and not as short. This protects roots from the burning sun. During warm weather is the best time to apply 2-4-0 weed killers. This attacks broad-leaved weeds but leaves grass undamaged.

Beans, lettuce, carrots and beets can be planted at intervals right up to early July, with still good prospects of a crop. Where fall climate is mild and moist peas can be sown for an autumn crop in late July.

Tall Ones Need Support
For tall plants or those pruned to grow tall like tomatoes, stakes are advisable. Perennials like delphiniums and hollyhocks are quite liable to break over in a high wind or during a heavy rain. Stakes about an inch thick and wide, and as tall as necessary, will hold these "lows" and also tomatoes. They need not be conspicuous if driven in behind the plants and they can always be stained brown or green. Plants should be tied to them loosely with soft twine or raffia. For bushy things like peonies, hops or wry or wood placed in position before blooming will prove very satisfactory.

Right Equipment Helps
Good, sharp tools will save a lot of hard work. A dull spade or hoe never do the work efficiently. A few of the special tools, too, will prove helpful—things like Dutch hoes, hand cul-tivators and long-handled spades to get out weeds. Under the general heading of labor-savers will be weed-killers like the new 2-4-D and some of the DDT insect sprays or dusts. These do the job with little effort.

Sports Camera

By Brian Swarbrick

In less than a month, two big Negro fighters will clamber into a squared platform in the infield of Yankee Stadium in New York to battle it out for the heavyweight boxing championship of the world.

Before the ballyhoo starts—and it can be expected any time now—let's review the chances of Joe Louis retaining his crown against contender Jersey Joe Walcott.

The Associated Press asked 282 America sports writers what they thought of the respective combatants and in the majority opinion Louis is home free.

An overwhelming 230 lined up behind the Alabama cotton-picker, while only 52 took their chances on the Camden, N.J. cutie.

"Cutie" can mean practically anything, but in boxing it designates the opposite of a windmill slugger who's all fight and probably a poor boxer. We readily term Walcott a cutie, inasmuch as he knows that boxing can be a science and weighs his chances for victory on points as well as by the more decisive method of laying the other flat on his face.

In the first fight, Walcott advantageously combined the two to show very well against the champion. Louis gained a 15-round split decision in that Dec. 5 battle, and it caused him no end of grief.

With a spotless record up to the Walcott classic, Louis was the butt of many a smile attack that he had won by a hair merely on the basis of champion gets the benefit of the doubt.

Training Stepped Up
The Brown Bomber will moot certainly be out to erase that idea, and will probably be in excellent condition when he weighs in June 23 for his second meeting with Walcott.

The champion stepped up training through May at his Pompton Lakes, N.J., camp, and cut much of the fat from his hide that had accrued during a visit to England.

Mearns Walcott, amiable Camden comeback kid, can also be counted on to show up ready to throw leather. Many an observer felt that if he had known the judges' minds during the final round of the first bout he would have thrown much more leather at the disappointing champion. Walcott obviously coasted through the final rounds, confident he had piled enough points to win a decision.

When they brought him to the "mike" immediately after the fight, the strength in his voice would have made listeners think he'd won; he started out that he felt he'd been robbed and was ready to take Louis again "today, tomorrow—anytime."

Louis was crestfallen; he had an eye a thick beefsteak would have to meet. When he'd regained his composure his conversation exuded a quiet confidence. He told anybody caring to listen that he hadn't liked his performance, either, but that he certainly intended to show a different record at the next time he entered the ring.

We believe him; also we believe Walcott, and that's why their next meeting—whatever the outcome—should be humdinger.

Female Influence Seen Great Need In Post-War Life

The biggest block in women's fight for equal rights has been fear of "losing sex appeal," says an expert in the field.

For more than 3,000 years, reports Dr. Ida Bobula, visiting lecturer at New Jersey College for Women of Rutgers University, men have been quick to use this potent weapon against feminists, suffragists and career women.

"Most women naturally would rather win a man's heart than fight for the right to sit beside him at a legislative session," she added.

Dr. Bobula, former professor of history at the University of Debrecen, Budapest, Hungary, was a leader in her own country's fight for woman suffrage and equal rights.

"Now she is presenting the first course in 'the history of women' ever given at New Jersey College.

"The greatest revolution in the history of mankind—raising that of humanity to political equality—is essentially accomplished," she said. But the problem today, she adds, is whether women actually will participate equally with men in government.

"If we don't assume our responsibility, it may mean the greatest setback in human evolution," Dr. Bobula said.

United States women are celebrating the centennial year of their fight for equal rights, "yet not even in this fortunate country are conditions favorable for combining both a career and marriage," she said.

GARDEN FEISTS

Last week I sent a specimen of a grub that was damaging gardens in this district to the University for identification. The report on the specimen showed it to be the larvae of a Pepper Grass beetle. It feeds freely on such plants as radish, turnips, or cabbage. The only control method recommended for the pest is spraying with a contact insecticide, DDT sprayed directly on the grubs will kill them and not affect the garden or garden produce. Spraying would have to be done whenever the grubs were present and doing damage.

SPRAY MACHINES FOR 2-4-D
In every district this year there will be several spray machines. These machines in most cases are new and the operators are new. Care must be taken to be sure that the chemical is put on at the right rate. Too much or too little will result in the first case killing the grain and in the latter a poor or no kill on the weeds. To get the maximum benefit at the least cost follow the instructions for spraying carefully.

BEE FEEDING

It is very important that bees have plenty of food during the month of June. If a shortage of food results at any time during this month the hive will not produce enough brood to indicate a shortage of food.

"MONEY MAKES THE MARE GO"

...BUT HORSE SENSE HELPS

As a farmer, you're well aware of the truth of this old proverb... and you know it's not just how much money you have but how wisely you spend it. That's horse sense.

Last year, thousands of Canadian farmers showed they had plenty of it. Under The Farm Improvement Loans Act, they borrowed over $18,000,000 which—with a good proportion of their own money—they used to make their farms better, more profitable farms.

Are you among those taking advantage of this opportunity to get ahead?

If you'd like to modernize your farm and home economically, you'll find, at the B of M, that farm improvement loans can't be bettered for low rates and freedom from other charges.

Ask at your local branch of the B of M for your copy of "Quiz for a Go-Ahead Farmer".

The farmers who borrowed under the Farm Improvement Loans Act last year have bettered their homes, better lives, in a result: they used the money well... to construct and repair buildings, including homes... to buy machines and equipment... to clear and level land... to buy foundations and more workable in many other ways.

THIS YEAR, YOU CAN DO IT, TOO.

CONTINUATION OF BOARD OF TRADE HOLDS REGULAR MEETING

Wainwright and as the itinerary is made up well in advance of the Board tour, and Wainwright was not included, it is impossible to secure the band to give a performance at this point.

Correspondence from Davidson Dairy, Wainwright was read and on regular motion this was to be handed to the local Board of Health.

In the absence of Airport and Transportation Chairman, F. Madrox, the secretary reported the information relative to the proposed marking of a building roof with the name of the town and an arrow to the nearest landing strip. As the Wainwright motors building was suggested as a likely spot to place this aid to air travelers, the secretary reported that Mr. F. Conroy, proprietor of the Garage is in contact with Imperial Oil Ltd. in the hope that they will do this task for the advertising value.

A suggestion was made at the meeting which turned into a motion that a letter be sent to the local Board of Health and to the Council of the Town of Wainwright, relative to the mosquito menace and that action be taken to prevent the breeding of further mosquitoes. It was suggested that covering of sloughs and ponds with old oil obtainable from local garages for free be employed to combat this common nuisance.

Other reports were given by W.
Huntingford covering publicity in general and the new entrance signs in particular, and from Mr. J. Morgan covering the Army and Military Camp. Both these reports were on actions to date.

Mr. L. Barlow, president of the Wainwright Golf Club brought forth the subject that the Wainwright Golf Club was badly in need of funds having recently purchased a rebuilt mower for use on the course. As the Sports Fund of the B. of T. is almost depleted no help could be given from this account. After approximately 35 minutes of debating and argument the motion was made that this grant be given from the Celebrations Fund. At that time it could not be ascertained whether a general meeting could pass such a matter without first it being approved by the executive at their regular meeting. However the grant was made on the strength of the motion being approved.
One vote dissenting, K. Torg requesting that his vote be recorded.

A suggestion came forth from the floor of the meeting that the Membership and Welcome Committee become more active. It was felt that many new members could be added to those now listed.

Mr. K. Torg spoke to the meeting for a few minutes on the proposal that something along the lines of a Community Chest be set up in Wainwright. He said that each year there were three separate national appeals made and that the actions of a Community Chest would be to consolidate such appeals into one. He pointed out that local institutions could also partake in the drive for funds and in such way derive some of the benefit.

fits. His suggestions were well received and the feeling was that the
B. of T. might undertake to institute the meeting was adjourned.

Human Interest Stories

By Douglas W. Smith
Public Relations Officer,
Canadian Legion, HELL

Are you a coward or a blinking hero? Is there a hair's-breadth line between cowardice and bravery that you can cross at will? I believe there must be. I base my facts on the case of Slim . . . a soldier with my late unit.

The year was 1944, the month June and the place Normandy. While it wasn't quite hay cutting time, the machine gunners from both sides of the hedgerows were doing an excellent job of mowing down the crops. It was about then that General Crerar decided the troops should have a paper of their own in the field. And so I was detailed to return to the holding units in England and dig up a newspaper crew.

I don't know yet why I chose Slim from the many applicants. His only qualifications were that he had driven a truck for a news distributing agency and he had pitched for a semi-pro ball team. Anyhow we needed drivers and maybe the time would come when we might have a ball team.

In the busy course of events of getting organized and returning to the continent, I paid little attention to Slim. He came to my attention in Caen when we had finally got the first copy of the Maple Leaf off the presses.

It was just at the dark hour before dawn breaks that the trucks were loaded and ready to go up the lines. For the last two hours the German 88's were landing uncomfortably close but everyone was too hot up with first edition fever to pay much attention.

All except Slim. His truck was loaded and ready to go but there was no sign of him. I eventually found him hiding in the cellar underneath the press. He was scared stiff. I figured it was useless sending him out and substituted another driver.

I suppose the proper thing later would have been to send him back with an adverse report. But the blighter turned out to be a white on fixing things and with our German sabotaged ancient press we needed all the mechanical help we could get. I heard afterwards that the corporal in command called him all the yellow curs etc. that man could think of. Yet Slim took it all without retreating.

In the Spring of 1945 we were operating out of Brussels. Newspaper was running desperately short. Intelligence reports told me there was some German newspaper in a warehouse near Oldenburg.

Slim was one of our party of three when we arrived there. The warehouse was off the beaten path and up in woods. We had no sooner opened the doors when "ping" and a bullet tore into a roll of newspaper. We got under cover in the warehouse and a regular crossfire of bullets kept whizzing in from different directions. Undoubtedly they were We're-out snipers, but how many of them we couldn't tell. We certainly couldn't get back to our vehicle in the open ground outside so I laid a plan to slip out the back window. Personally I wasn't in favour of searching for snipers in strange woods as I value this carcass to the extent of four times the cost of the Marshall Plan. To make it worse Slim had taken it on the lam. Where, I didn't know. This was serious as it meant the cutting down of manpower. We laid low for some time.

Without warning the shooting slowed down and then quit entirely. We sneaked out the back window and ran smack into Slim. I was ready to have the daylight out of him when I noticed he was grinning from ear to ear.

He put his fingers to his lips for caution and signalled for us to follow. We came upon two people lying bleeding and unconscious on the ground. We avoided around and could find no more.

This was Slim's story. He had left the warehouse, sneaked to the rear of where he figured the shots were coming from and sneaked up behind. There were two We're-out snipers shooting from opposite sides at the warehouse.

He could have shot the first but that would have warned the other and possibly more if in the vicinity. So he picked up a heavy stone and in his best Sunday baseball pitch tossed the lethal. He next gave the other the same treatment.

It was a brave and cool thinking job. We dropped the helmets at the nearest protest post and went back to camp.

I put in a recommendation for his bravery, but apparently civilian Germans weren't supposed to be dangerous even though they pointed guns and shot at you. We never heard any more about the matter.

Last year when I was attending a Legion branch meeting out West who should stand up on the floor to make a motion but Slim. It wasn't the most astute of resolutions and he was laughed down. He seemed chastened and clammed up.

I spoke to the Legion branch afterwards about him. He just shrugged his shoulders and said, "Oh, him. He hasn't got much gumption, never seems to show any initiative."

Am I a coward? Are you a coward? What makes a man a coward or a hero? I'm sure I can't figure it out.

Time Out For Laughs

Denver Dan was going to trial for murder. One of the jurors was a relative and Dan got to him with instructions. "They got the goods on me, Bill, and as a juror you got to come through for me. From beginning to end you hold out for 'life' for me—remember, hold out for 'life'." The case was given to the jury and the relative held out for the arranged verdict. Hours passed, but Bill stuck to his guns. Finally the rest of the jury fell into line with the holdout. It went back into the box and the foreman announced the verdict which brought imprisonment for life. Bill rushed over to the smiling Dan and whispered, "I came through for you, Dan, the other guys wanted to give you five years, but I kept yelling, 'No, life or nothing.'"

Junior, who was still too young to walk, had cried and fretted all day until the harassed housewife thought she would lose her mind. She told her husband all about it when he came home that evening. "Well, remember," he said, "the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world. About 7:30 that evening, Junior still crying and fretting as before, she said to him: 'Assume world domination for a couple of hours, darling, while I go to the movies.'"

"Why did you leave your last position?"

"Illness. The boss got sick of me."

Rose Willow W.I.

The Rose Willow W.I. met at the home of Mrs. Hoot for our June meeting with 14 members and seven visitors present.

Mrs. McLean from Irma our constituency convener was able to be with us.

The meeting followed its usual procedure. The roll call being answered by "My favorite radio program."

The minutes were read and adopted. Several "thank you" letters were received. One of particular interest came from England telling us how much they appreciated our food parcel we sent them. Accompanying this letter came a box of beautiful flowers and figures made of felt and wool.

It was agreed to send our money in now to the matron of the hospital to pay for the basket we are purchasing for the new hospital.

Mrs. Avison and Mrs. Sewell gave respective papers on "Citizenship" and "Hills on sewing."

Our articles to be exhibited at the conference were reported pretty well all finished.

Several donations were made to the work box.

Our objective for June being the baby layette was completed and ready to send away.

Pans were made to start another quilt.

Miss Alice Dickson was elected delegate at the conference in Bruce on June 12th.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. McLean who gave us a very interesting and enjoyable report.

She stressed on the need to support the cancer fund, also to encourage more music in our district and to try and get a girls club started.

She also gave us many helpful hints and suggestions that will benefit us in carrying on our W.I.

At the close of the meeting we all enjoyed a very lovely supper.

Dorcas McLean won the raffle. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Plaxton's on July 8. The roll call being "A Current Event."

We were very pleased to have so many welcome visitors at our meeting and we hope you will all come again.

During the preparing of supper several young girls of the district entertained us with piano solos and singing which we all enjoyed very much.

that the Municipal Council will find it necessary to make a moderate extra levy in order to allow for discounts, non-collectible interests etc. The Municipal Act also recognizes this necessity and, as stated in the letter from the Council, provides for a maximum extra levy of 10% over and above the requisition of the School Division.

In this instance the only question the Divisional Board has raised is why it has been necessary to exceed the maximum amount laid out in the Municipal Act.

Mr. Wilbraham's letter of May 22, 1948 to which your attention is again directed, has explained the reasons for the increase.

Sincerely yours,

OLIVER G. GRIFFITHS,

Nanaimo, B.C.—A two year old fawn held up logging operations here when tough loggers feared falling trees might endanger its life. They fed it milk from a bottle and then took it to the game department for safekeeping.

She: "Same reason why you scream and yell when a man you don't know slides into second base."

MORE BREAD FOR THE WORLD

because Massey-Harris Combines enable one man in one day, to harvest wheat for 55,000 loaves

Yes, more food is available for the world today when its need is desperate, because Canadian farmers with only a two-thirds increase in numbers over 1900, are growing 4½ times as much grain, producing 2½ times as much milk, feeding twice as many cattle and 2½ times as many hogs, raising 5 times as many chickens; because they are providing food for 2½ times as many people in Canada and exporting 30 times as much wheat and 10 times as much flour.

Farmers are doing it because individually they produce more today than in 1900, but it means hard work. And there is no harder working group of people in the world than the Canadian farmers. But hard work alone would not be enough to accomplish such results. They do it by a combination of hard work and modern machinery.

Typical of the great, efficiency-increasing machinery of the farm today is the Self-Propelled Combine, pictured above, which Massey-Harris first introduced in 1935. With this machine, one man can cut and thresh enough wheat in one day to make 55,000 loaves of bread.

Modern farm machinery has increased the productive capacity of Canadian agriculture to where it provides an abundant surplus for the needs of those in other lands, and makes an important contribution to Canada's great export trade.

Similarly Massey-Harris machines are helping to increase farm production in 72 countries of 6 continents.
